

A simple idle demo: this application just sits around and beeps periodically. You can send it a `setIdle` event from another script to change the beep rate.