

bout Meadows...

Meadows Information Systems, Inc. provides custom software development and systems integration services to the graphic arts industry. We are specialists in pre-press and imaging systems technology, with over forty years of combined experience in the field. Our predominant strength lies in the ability of Meadows personnel to analyze the needs of the customer and provide a complete system solution. This includes local area networking, custom software development, data conversion, and third-party systems integration.

Meadows offers your company access to top quality programming talent for the development of IBM/PC, Apple Macintosh and Novell NetWare applications. Our software engineers will help to identify your requirements, develop a program specification and provide you with a complete and well documented end-product. The systems we design are user-friendly and easy to understand.

Meadows also provides custom networking and communications solutions which will make your company's systems work more efficiently together. The network systems designed by Meadows are finely tuned for graphic arts applications. We pay special attention to system performance and capacity, and provide flexible options such as image database management and OPI picture replacement.

Meadows offers complete and comprehensive technical support. Our direct pager access service means less downtime in the event of failure or a quick answer at a critical moment.

Meadows Information Systems, Inc. has the right combination of technical expertise and real world experience to help your company tune its systems to working perfection! For more information, please call (708) 882-8202.
