Special thanks to:

Shirley Vogel - First, she made all the graphics, did most of the testing, and tolerated my neuroses. Second, without her prodding, this game would not exist.

Tim Phillips and Sean Sayrs - The crew from Fantasoftware that pulled me on board, sent me sound disks and graphics, provided moral support and the presence of like spirits.

Christopher Tate and Tom Trinko - For always filling my mailbox with huge letters filled with comments. Without them, the game would not be as good.

Richard Garriott (aka Lord British) - For creating the Ultima series, my biggest inspiration.

The makers of Wizard's Crown, Phantasie, Might and Magic, Realmz, Deathlord, and Wizardry (in that order) - For providing good ideas to crib.

Comedy Central - For playing in the background for several hundred of the hours I spent making this. It's playing right now.

BrandtD at AOL - For being my first registrant.

BeadleB at AOL - For being a huge help in testing, and for figuring out what was going wrong with the game on older macs and thus saving my sanity.

talk.bizarre - For being generally cool.

All my friends - For not killing me when they found out I made them characters in my game.
