

The section of the control bar through which the slider moves as the movie plays.

The play bar represents the the running time of the movie.

The slider's position on the play bar represents the current point in time between the beginning and end of the movie.