

Three Hungarian girls go on a short vacation to Bologna, aboard a mini-bus. When they're close to Bologna, the girls ask the driver to stop for some coffee. While the girls are having their second cup of coffee, they realize the driver has taken off with the bus. They are not very happy about the situation since their suitcases, with their clothes and money, are on board that mini-bus. Fortunately, it doesn't take them very long to meet a guy (Eros) who invites them to spend the night at his place. They accept his offer, but know they can't stay there forever. One of the girls suggests they earn some money to make this vacation enjoyable. They meet up with three girlfriends that have just arrived in Bologna, and the six girls rent an apartment. This apartment is meant for business ... The film is loaded with sex; eight hot scenes in all ... and one of them is a spicy orgy.
