

Delay sample

Where $[E][D][x]$ means "do not start this division's sample for the first x ticks in this division, play the sample after this". This implies that if x is 0, then you will hear no delay, but actually there will be a VERY small delay. Note that this effect only influences a sample if it was started in this division.