

#31            Accessing the Password Font

Written by Todd Carper

Published Date December 14, 1987

---

Making use of the password font in your applications.

---

When designing your data input screens you may desire the use of the 'wave' password font. 4th Dimension uses this font when prompting the user for a password. The font may be utilized in the following manner.

FONT(MyVar;"%Password")

Where MyVar is any valid variable name.

This will display the 'wave' password font in the variable MyVar when any data is entered into or displayed thru the variable field.

The 12 point font size is defined for the font. Other desired font sizes are scaled according to standard Macintosh scaling conventions.

