

PictureAgent is a program specifically designed to help you download binary files from the Usenet newsgroups more efficiently than a regular news reader app. Besides just pictures it handles all file types including movies and sounds files. It enables you to set up filtering criteria which is used to scan your specified newsgroups, then it simply sucks the files down to your hard drive and decodes them for you.