

There are millions of graphics on the Internet, and many of them are Public Domain, making them free for you to use on your Web pages. You'll find the pictures you're after more easily with iFind Graphics. It's a search engine client that finds images by keyword. The client queries 4 different search engines and displays thumbnails of the hits, ready to be downloaded.