

"I had a small list of servers, but I found that the servers went up and down all the time. Every time I connected to the net I had to look through my list one by one to find a server that was alive. I made this program to automate the task as it is quick, small, and leaves you with a list of servers that are all active!" - Nick Wood. If you have a request, let us know by email by clicking the link on the left.