

Bob emailed us with this suggestion. "As you said to tell you if I thought a program should be on the NET CD; here is one that I think is very useful for multiple mailboxes on different ISP servers. After configuration of the number of mailboxes that users have, it will connect to all of them in turn, and collect the waiting mail from the said server, so that it can be read."