If you plan to use some of your Web site space to accommodate program files, you'll need to compress and archive them so they download as quickly as possible. The .zip archive format is the standard recognised Internet format due to its excellent speed and efficient compression ratios. And you can't beat WinZip for features and ease of use. Find out why WinZip is number 1 now!