

News Rover is the tool for extracting information from Usenet newsgroups. News Rover automates the process of searching for messages, downloading them, decoding file attachments, and reconstructing files that are split across multiple messages. News Rover does all of this automatically while so you can get on with something else. When you are ready to read messages and look at the pictures it has collected, they are ready for instant access on your computer.