

Enjoy better bargains on the Internet using this smart Internet Explorer plug-in. Once installed it adds a Compare button on the Links bar, then just click it to invoke a price comparison when you find a product you like, such as books, videos, software, auctions, airline tickets and more. ValueSpeed sends your query to one of several free on-line comparison services, and the results are displayed within the browser window. Using this software you ought to be able to make significant savings while searching for stuff to buy on the Internet, however the number of results are dependent on the popularity and type of product being price checked.
