

APE

This personable primate has been monkeying around with the theater since he was just a chimp. His family tree includes a line of talented performers and the expression "more fun than a barrel of monkeys" was actually coined in reference to this monkey's uncle. Oxford educated, Ape appeared in numerous stage productions (including O'Neill's "The Hairy Ape") before boarding the Queen Mary to strike out on his own in Hollywood. Following some stereotypical "beast" roles, he went on to more meaningful parts and has garnered awards for his versatile acting skills. Ape is extremely fond of "Chiquita" bananas.
