On the script being clever