

Changes (2.0.4 to 2.0.5)

The following changes have been made since the last release:

- Added several categories to the frameworks, donated by Thomas Engel.
- All source files with categories in them now have names with a `^+^` in them instead of a `^_`. Please have all future submissions follow this pattern—the filename should fit the template `^ClassName+CategoryName.[hm]^`. If there are several categories, use `^MiscExtensions^` as the `^CategoryName^` part of the file name. If there is already a `^MiscExtensions^` file, either ask for your submission to be added to the existing file (you lose maintainership if you do this, though) or choose another, but similar name, or break up the categories into separate files using the naming scheme above (which is preferred).
- And other minor tweaks here and there.

-don yacktman

don@miskit.com