

File Scripting Contracts

These contracts serve as examples of what you can do with the Windows File System Object. This is an object that you can create on the server and use to manipulate files on the server from your ASP code.

The contract “Replace [token] with file last modified date” can be used to report the date of a database file that drives your web site. When users visit your site they will know when the database was last updated.