

The Internet is a huge worldwide network of users, and servers. The Internet may be viewed as a "network of networks" where thousands of computers are connected together.