

A server is a computer connected to the Internet, for the purpose of allowing others to login to it to retrieve information. There are many types of servers, from Email servers, to Web servers.