

Ping is a program which traces and records the time from your computer, to the target computer. Normally this is measured in milliseconds.