

Next you need an animated loading graphic, which loops until your main page is loaded. We're going to show a picture of a tomato filling up, using the Gradient and Color palettes to create the colour effect, and the timeline to create the animation effects and control the looping.