The next few issues are going to seem like a 'Xmas special' every month, due to the amount of full and special edition software packages we have lined up. We're really making a special effort to bring you two full titles each month - not just any software, software applicable to an e-business.

This month has seen a few changes Mac wise. Gone is the Mac specific interface and in is a central interface that enables us to provide a Mac installation where a Mac version of a program exists. If you see a Mac icon on screen, there is a Mac installer for that particular program.

In regards to the CD interface, we are eager to hear your thoughts regarding the new interface, positive or negative. Click through the options and go through the entire interface. Feel free to email me, the CD editor, at chris.wiles@futurenet.co.uk.
