

About SimpleHelp

version: 1.0.0

last modified: September 6, 2000

SimpleHelp is a very basic sample that demonstrates adding a help book to a cocoa application. In fact no code is necessary. Just write up a help book using html, Include it in your project and then specify it as the help file for plist item NSHelpFile. Everything is taken care of for you. Just select Help from the help menu and the default web browser is launched and your help book will be displayed.

Building the Code

The code was built using a standard Cocoa Application project in project builder.

Restrictions

none.

Other Code Notes

none.

Known Bugs

none.

Possible Future Enhancements

none.

Other Sources of Reference

none.

Version History

9/00-Created

Credits

Karl Groethe

Apple Developer Technical Support