

Cover disc

Protection and privacy are most definitely this month's cover disc watchwords, as we've put together a superb collection of full programs that'll have your PC's defences shored up and ready for anything. You'll also find tools for secure remote access, database development and SMS text messaging

How to load the programs on the CD and DVD

1 Insert the disc into your CD-ROM or DVD-ROM drive. The PC Advisor main menu screen should appear after a few seconds. If not, type d:\master.exe (where D is the letter of your CD or DVD drive).

2 Click Continue at the Welcome screen. Running along the top of the next screen you will see a set of tabs. Click on one of these to access the software in that section.

3 Once you have selected the tab relating to the section you want to view - say, Internet toolbox - choose the program that you want to install from the lefthand list. You will then see that package's details on the righthand side of the screen and a blue Install button. Click this to load up the program or select View to download a program from the relevant website.

4 If you experience any problems, refer to the manual instructions on pages 197-203 or see the related Read Me file. Alternatively, use Windows Explorer to find the program executable you require and double-click to launch it. If the program still won't load visit our website or call the helpline. Please remember that PC Advisor can only assist with installation difficulties.

Command Antivirus 2004

There's plenty you can do to avoid the constant threat of virus attacks. Chances are, though, that something you don't want on your hard disk will get through at some point unless you've got yourself some serious protection - protection such as Command Software's Antivirus 2004. It offers dynamic virus detection, scheduled scanning, logging and alert options, plus regular virus database updates. And it's completely free for a whole year. Defend your PC now.

Driver Wizard

There's no such thing as a finished driver these days - the best you can hope for is to keep whatever hardware you're running as up to date as possible. But this can be a tiresome and complicated process when you're trying to keep track of a dozen different components and manufacturers. Wouldn't it be better if there was a tool that would do all of this for you? Well, guess what? There is and it's on this month's cover DVD.

← OpenOffice.org provides a free alternative to the power-hungry apps of today

OpenOffice.org 1.1

Most of us only use roughly 10 percent of the functionality offered by today's office suites. The rest of it just sits around sucking up vital PC resources and hard disk space.

Not to mention the fact that buying and upgrading these essential suites can be a pretty expensive process that not all of us can afford to keep up with. So why not try OpenOffice.org instead?

It's open source and completely free and it's been written by someone other than Microsoft, which may or may not be a good thing. ☒
