DVD Cosmos, part III

EXCLUSIVE VIDEO

Discover the universe with our third chapter of the Cosmos series, brighten up your website with an even larger array of clip art and images, and take a break with our Games domain, which features demos of some of the most exciting and recent games

If you were enthralled by the first two parts of our Cosmos series, then you'll know that the third chapter will be a real treat. The archive footage and computer-generated images are stunning, while the commentary remains both interesting and informative. If you've ever looked up at the sky on a starry night and wondered what goes on up there, then this exclusive video will help you understand it better.

Chapter one: Pioneers

We look at the birth of astronomy. Ancient civilisations such as the Egyptians and Greeks were heavily influenced by the stars, but failed to recognise the fact that the Earth revolved around the sun and not vice versa. It was Nicolaus Copernicus who first realised this in the early 16th century, and you'll find out about his work in this chapter. There's also an interactive link to the Dawn of the Space Age, which reveals more about the first rockets and the early days of space exploration.

To install:

To watch the video, load your desktop DVD player and press Play to bring up the chapter menu. To load the PC Advisor software interface, follow these instructions.

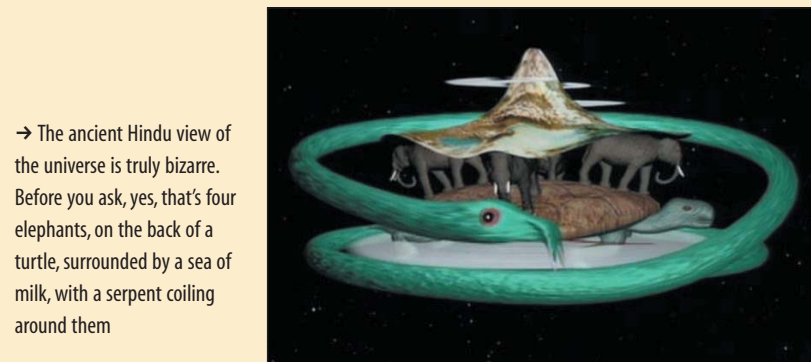

Go to Start, Run. Then type d:\pcacover.exe (where D is the letter of your DVD drive). Or go to Start, Programs, Windows Explorer to locate the relevant EXE file. Follow the onscreen instructions to install the program. Read the licence and any Read Me files for any special instructions that may relate to the individual products.

If you are unable to access the DVD even manually or experience problems with the disc call our DVD helpline on 0870 739 7630.

→ Stunning computer-generated footage is accompanied by in-depth commentary

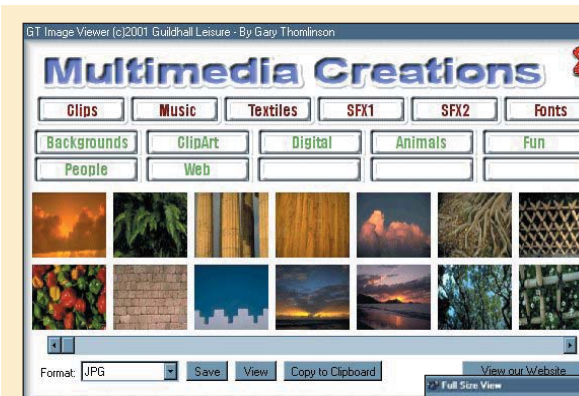

← The Egyptians also studied the stars, although some of their findings have now proved incorrect

→ The ancient Hindu view of the universe is truly bizarre. Before you ask, yes, that's four elephants, on the back of a turtle, surrounded by a sea of milk, with a serpent coiling around them

← Explore the galaxy with Cosmos, part III

Chapter two: Realm of the Comets

We tell the story of Pluto's discovery in 1930, and the subsequent findings of several comets such as Shoemaker-Levy 9, which found itself drawn into the magnetic field of the planet Jupiter with spectacular effects. Other comets, such as Halley's Comet, have been known of since the days of the Norman conquests. There's also an interactive link to Comet Impact, where you'll find out about the craters on the surface of the moon and how they were made.

Chapter three: Robots

Robots play an important role in space exploration, as they can get to parts of the universe that man will never be able to reach. The data they send back is of great benefit to us, as it helps us understand more about the make-up of other planets. The Mars Pathfinder mission is chronicled in this chapter, and you'll see footage of the first motor vehicle accident on Mars.

The interactive link takes you to video footage entitled Descent into Hell, which tells the story of a probe sent into Jupiter to explore its atmosphere. After an hour's descent on a parachute to the surface of the planet, the immense pressure it was under destroyed the probe.

PC Advisor Multimedia Creations

In addition to The Designer Toolkit 2, you'll find PC Advisor Multimedia Creations. Laid out in exactly the same way as the Toolkit, it is equally easy to use. This full program offers plenty of designs that could perfect your website. There's also loads of sound effects and music, not to mention some stunning clip art and graphics. It's easy to save the artwork or sound files to a directory of your choosing, and all the clip art and graphics can be copied on to the Clipboard and pasted directly into practically any type of document. Take time to have a look through all that is on offer in Multimedia Creations, because you really will be spoilt for choice.

BuzzSoft SoftMessage 1.6

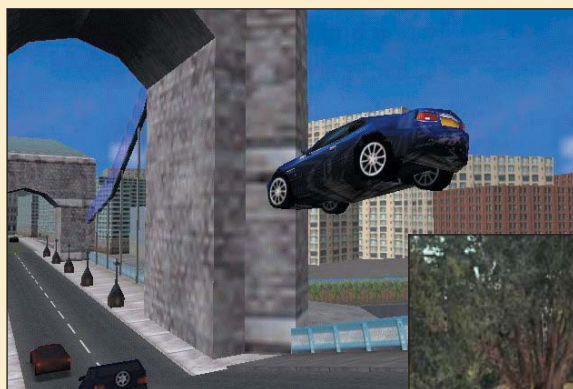

SoftMessage provides a quick, easy and secure method of sending text messages to mobile phones using the internet. This BuzzSoft application has been designed so that you can SMS from any PC in the world, provided it is connected to the internet.

How does it work? You must set up a personal account, comprising an email address, password and account name. Your account will be compatible with all the major worldwide networks, and it's much easier to type your messages using a keyboard than the fiddly little buttons on your mobile phone. Once your account is up and running, you simply buy text messages in advance, which are then attached to your account. No information is stored on your computer so it's completely secure, and it adds an identity tag to your messages, so the recipients know who the message is from and can reply to it easily.
