

ACCENT COMPOSER VENDOR INFORMATION

Accent Composer is a copyrighted shareware program produced by Kovach Computing Services. Descriptions and system requirements for the software appear later in this document.

Accent Composer may be freely copied and distributed, so long as the following conditions are met:

- 1) The program must be distributed in its entirety in the form of the original self-installing EXE file, or a ZIP file containing the self-installing EXE file along with FILE_ID.DIZ, README.WRI and VENDOR.WRI.
- 2) The program and documentation files must not be modified in any way. In particular, all copyright messages must remain intact.
- 3) A fee may be charged for distribution so long as you clearly explain the shareware concept to recipients. You must make it clear to users that they are buying an evaluation copy of the program and that they are required to register the program with Kovach Computing Services if they intend to continue using it. You must not describe the software as "free" or "public domain".
- 4) The documentation files must not be distributed in printed form.
- 5) Distribution in retail environments requires prior written permission from Kovach Computing Services. We reserve the right to charge royalties for distribution in retail environments.
- 6) Kovach Computing Services reserves the right to withdraw permission to distribute Accent Composer from any vendor at any time for any reason.

Short description:

Accent Composer - Windows keyboard utility ver. 1.0

Medium Description:

Accent Composer simplifies the process of entering accented characters and other symbols into any Windows 95 or NT program. Instead of typing codes on the numeric keypad or pasting from the Character Map utility, Accent Composer lets you create accented letters with easy-to-remember two character sequences. For example, to produce an A with a grave accent, just press the hotkey, followed by ` and A. You can customize the hotkey as well as any of the two character sequences. Requires Windows 95/98 or Windows NT 3.51 or higher and 0.7Mb hard disk space.
