1.2 Vocabulary From The Insane

Okay I'm two weeks late, but I've been very, very laz.. busy yeah that's it busy. For those who are stupid enough to go back to university after one degree then I can suggest Applied Computing. It's the most boring and dull area one can get into, however the down side is it takes almost all of your time. Especially if you are trying to program in COBOL! :)

Anyway enough waffle, let's talk about the Australian scene, which is after all what you are hear for. This issue I've managed with the help of Devious Dezigns and Cydonia to once again increase the number of productions. Yet still more I know have not found their way into this tome. We've gained a new group Dusk, but the down side is most of the groups listed here are currently either inactive or dead. If you are listed and doing something could you please contact me, because I'm beginning to think about deleting those entries which haven't changed in the past year or so. And on to administration matters...

Calling all icon artists, I am currently looking for a new icon to accompany this infozine. Preferably in MagicWB style (if you haven't changed to these and regisstered then do so NOW), but for those into NewIcons then sure why not. How about a new section to this editorial.

Moral Message of the Month:

If you use ShareWare products, don't you think you should really register them, after all these people help improve the Amiga when Commodore went bust!

Anyway I'm stiiilllllllll looking for details/productions on:
