

Sound Effects for Windows

Browsing through the files

Playing sounds

Using in Windows-events

Browsing through the files

On the left side of the screen, you can select which group of files you want to look at. The files are grouped by filename.

In the middle of the screen, you will see the files in the selected group, listed by filename.

To get more info about a file, simply click on the filename.

Playing sounds

On the right side of the screen, you will see info about the currently selected file, if any. Below the info, you will see 3 buttons : Play, Pause and Stop. Use these buttons like on a tape-player.

Using in Windows-events

Below the 3 buttons, you will see a button labeled Use as event-sound. When you click this button, you will see another screen, where you can select which event you want to associate with the selected sound. Click OK to copy the sound-file to your Windows System-directory, and link the sound to the event. After restarting Windows, the sound will be played when the event occurs.

