

Uploader
by PJ Albee version 1.1

System Requirements:

The following items are needed:

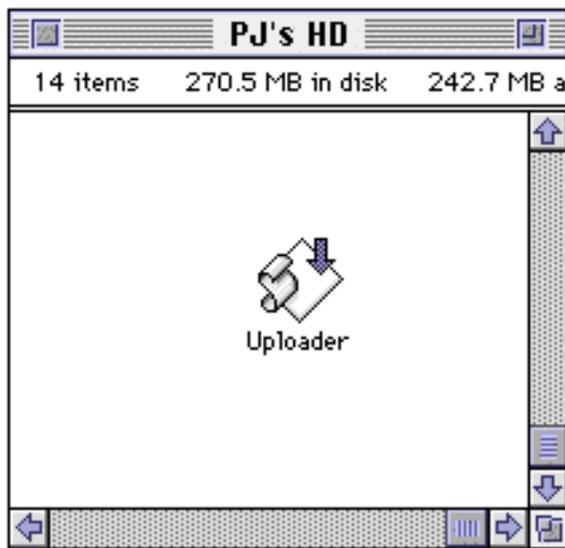

- Macintosh computer
- AppleScript 1.1 or better
- System 7.0 or better
- Anarchie by Peter Lewis

Setup:

Make sure that AppleScript and Anarchie are installed.

Usage:

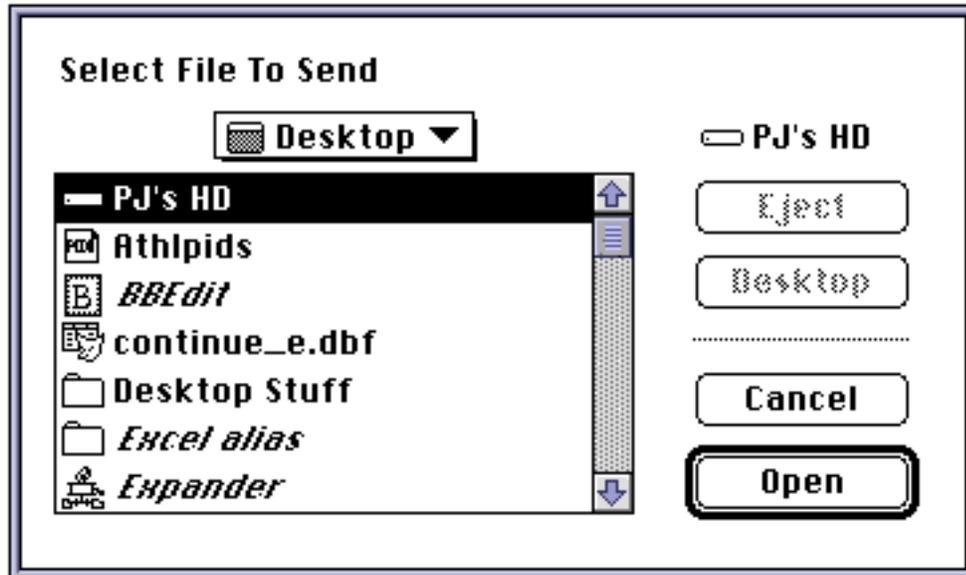

Either drag a group of files onto the Uploader icon, or double click on the icon.

An information screen will appear, press the run button to continue. A prompt will appear asking for the address to send to.

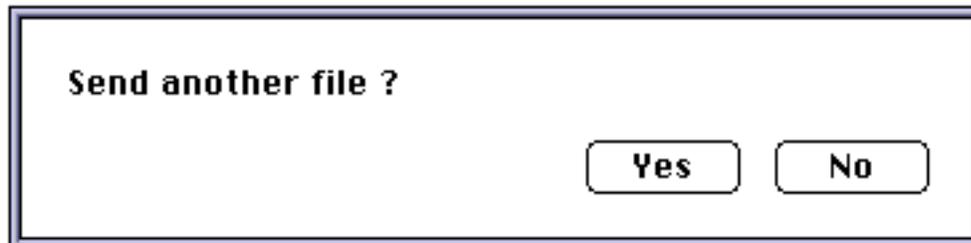

Two more prompts will appear asking for an account name and a password. The account name is the user name, and the password is the account password. If the program was launched by double clicking on the icon, the following file selection dialog will appear. If the program was launched by dragging a group files onto the icon, the upload will now commence.

To select a file either double click on the file name, or press the open button.

After each file selection the user will be prompted for more files.

When all files have been selected press the no button and the files will be uploaded.

Notes:

The script cannot handle folders that are dragged onto it. It will probably crash horribly.

Wish List:

Better Password Dialog.

Ability to handle Folders.

About the Author:

I am a Computer Science grad student at Bowling Green State University, currently I am finishing a Masters Degree. Next fall I plan to pursue a PhD at Michigan State University. If you like this software, have suggestions, or want to offer me a job, send email to albee@cs.bgsu.edu.

Legal Stuff:

Neither PJ Albee nor Bowling Green State University are responsible for any damage caused by this script. Use at your own risk. Permission to copy this software is given provided that no fee is charged.

Macintosh, AppleScript, and System 7.0 are all registered trademarks of Apple Computer Incorporated. Anarchie is copyrighted by Peter Lewis.