

The Eudora software was written by Steven Dorner; this manual was written by Carolyn Gedney, and revised by Steven Dorner and Kate Sadil. The manual was proofread by Dana Keil and David Blank-Edelman.

Thanks to Tim Maroney for the folder-choosing code, John Norstad for window placement code, John Bruner for the Mishawaka font, and Ray Davison for the Include Self code.

Finally, thanks to all the users and testers of Eudora, whose suggestions have made it a much better program than it would otherwise have been.

This manual was written for use with Eudora version 1.3, December 1992.

About the Name

Why the name “Eudora”?

When I was looking for a name for my new Post Office Protocol mail program, I thought immediately of the title of a short story I’d read years before: “Why I Live at the P.O.” So I named the program after the author of the story, Eudora Welty.

“Why I Live at the P.O.” can be found in a collection titled A Curtain of Green (Harcourt Brace Jovanovich). I highly recommend reading it, and anything else you can find by Ms Welty. Her stories are funny, sad, and fascinating; she’s surely one of the great American writers.
