

The Windows 3.1 Common Dialogs

Dialog name	COMMDLG entry point name
Open	GetOpenFileName()
Save As	GetSaveFileName()
Color	ChooseColor()
Font	ChooseFont()
Print	PrintDlg()
Find	FindText()
Replace	ReplaceText()

Description

Displays a list of filenames matching any specified extensions, directories, and drives. The filename selected by the user is returned to the application.

Displays a list of filenames matching any specified extensions, directories, and drives. The filename selected by the user is returned to the application.

Displays the available colors and allows the user to define a custom color.

Displays a list of typefaces, point sizes, styles, and colors selects a font, the dialog displays some sample text in that

Displays information about the currently selected printer and its configuration, allows the user to specify how the output should be printed, and starts the printing process.

Allows the user to enter a string that will be used as the should be case-sensitive.

Allows the user to enter two strings: one that will be the search target and one that will be the replacement.

that correspond to the available fonts. When the user font.

target in an application's search operation. The user can specify the direction of the search and whether the search