How to play

This is a quite simple game. All you have to do is get rid of all your dice.

There are only two rules:

1. when you throw a number that is already on the table, you have to take both dice and your turn ends
2. when you throw a one, the dice will be taken out of the game

You can end your turn whenever you want to, but you have to throw at least once.

That is all!

How to register

This program is shareware. If you like it, please register it.

The registered version allows any combination of human and computer players. In addition to that you can change the number of dice you start with.

You just need your personal codenumber to register this program. You get it via e-mail directly from me after using one of the following ways to register:
