herein referred to as the source code.

The ordering of the source code shall be deemed to be an acceptance, by the purchaser of the following terms of purchase.

2. The purchase of the source code entitles the purchaser to make use of the source code or variations of the source code for use and application by the purchaser only.
3. There shall be no reproduction, disclosure, sale, lease, rent or use to or by any 3rd party of the source code.
4. The purchaser acknowledges that all intellectual property rights in the source code including copyright confidential information and identifying trade names or marks are the sole property of the vendor, BYTE Computer & Software Ltd, Christchurch, New Zealand.
5. If there is any dispute as to the interpretation or application of this Contract, the proper law to apply to the Contract shall be that of New Zealand”

And our interpretation, for those of you that aren't lawyers (though it's not *that* bad, is it!). By purchasing Full Registrations or Upgrade Registrations that contain source code for the above controls, you accept the terms as stated above. These terms essentially try and protect us from you copying the code, re-compiling it (with just a few changes (ie you stick your own name details in there)) and then selling it as your own. Well that's just plain unfair - ain't it! We've done all the hard work. By purchasing the source code, we give you the rights to use it to do what you want with it for recompilation for use in your own applications. Essentially, we're asking you to be honest and fair about the way you use our source code, so a lot relies on you.

As a final note; it's taken me quite some time to convince BYTE Computer & Software that it is standard to sell Delphi Shareware controls with source code - and I'm also very pleased with the prices we've negotiated. So register or upgrade to the source, make all the changes in the world you want, and let you and your end-users enjoy the results!
