ObjC flag (the Project Builder default), all classes in the libraries will be available to customizers, application also uses them. In addition, if you list the names of shared libraries after the u option,

A option leaves all global symbols from a shared library and all Objective C class symbols: