

`(NSString *)expressionValueForContext:(id <EOExpressionContext>)context`

Returns a string representation of the receiver, suitable for use in a SQL statement. If context is non-nil the receiver can use it to format an attribute reference or a data path ending in an attribute reference (see the EOExpressionContext protocol specification for information on formatting attribute references).