

This file is only important for users of the German version of OneVision.

There is an error in the German localization of the color selection panel in Nextstep 3.3. Therefore all strings in the color selection panel are in English and opening the color selection panel by OneVision causes an error message in the console window. Though this is an error of NEXTSTEP, OneVision is held responsible for it.

Therefore, OneVision GmbH has developed a patch to remove this error. This patch can only be installed on computers running Nextstep 3.3. (Former versions don't show this error anyway.) You must be logged in as `root` to install this patch.