-) The error message for Invalid Character Code should tell the user which translation files need to be updated.

Feature Requests

- index entries should generate a hypertext index.
- Copy/Paste-link in MSWord for Mac creates a 'live' link. Within a document, this generates a hypertext link. This should also be allowed across documents.
- Footnotes would be a great way to edit and view hypertext links. This was a feature in the earliest versions of rtftohtml - but was dropped. It should be put back.
- How about html->rtf??
- Allow TITLE's to be taken from the text of the document (instead of just the info-block)
- Make rtftohtml available under DOS and Windows
- Don't print line numbers and column positions for error messages. Print a context string.
- Allow spaces to separate bullets from text within lists.
