

Overview;→Converse Version 1.0

This program provides a way to send messages to users on other machines, the other user will get immediate notification. Something like "popup" in the Novell network environment. The user enters a message into the Input area, selects the User Address(es) of the desired message recipient(s), and sends. Messages received, as well as a copy of all outgoing messages appear in the gray Log area. A list of User Addresses can be maintained individually or shared.
