

Installation

To gain full use from Poste, it should be copied to either the /LocalApps or your personal ~/Apps directory. A system administrator will usually be in charge of making changes to the /LocalApps directory (since it is shared by others). If you do not find an Apps folder in your home directory, you should be able to create one and copy Poste into it.

After Poste has been copied to either /LocalApps or your ~/Apps directory, log out and then log back in to your account. This step allows Poste to appear in the Service menu (see NeXT documentation for more information on Services).
