

Dumping Resource File Selections

All that is required to dump a selection is to click the mouse pointer on the "Dump Selection" button on the main window. Dumping a resource can only be done when three conditions have been met:

1. A file with a valid resource section has been selected
2. A type has been selected from the "Type" browser
3. A resource has been selected from the "Resource ID/Name" browser

Only when the above three conditions have been met will the "Dump Selection" button be enabled.

If the "Dump Selection" button has been activated at this time, a "Save Panel" will appear. By default, the name selected is the name of the selected type plus the name of the selected resource. Use the "Save Panel" to select the desired name of the destination file and the desired location to save the file.

Upon completion, the program will resume at the state before the "Dump Selection" button was activated.
