Introduction

Why should YOU use YOUr idle computer screen to advertise for some behemoth microcomputer software company when YOU could be advertising YOUrself!

Flying YOU is a much more personal method of warping through space than Flying "YouKnowWhatos".

YOU can enter YOUr own text in any font and color and Flying YOU takes care of the rest, sending YOU through space, passing YOUr own billboards at warp speed!

Message

Type the message you would like to see when flying through space, then choose an appropriate font and color.   A shadow can also be added to help highlight darker colors.

NOTE : Not all fonts can be accurately scaled, so only scaleable True Type fonts are displayed in the font dialog.   A few True Type fonts may not work well either.   A font that does not scale correctly may appear to pop-up suddenly rather than grow as you approach.

Warp speed

Identical to that other flying screensaver.   This controls the speed at which you appear to travel through space.

Starfield

"Use Starfield" turns on/off star generation.   When on, your message if flown through stars.   When off, message flies by itself.   Select "Colorize Stars" to display red, green and blue stars that brighten as you approach.

Density

- "# of Pics" controls the number of images that will appear on the screen at once.

- If "Use Starfield" is checked, "Star Ratio" contols how many stars are generated per image.

NOTE: These controls allow up to 100 images and 1000 stars to be displayed at once.   These settings are made available to support very fast, high resolution video cards.   We do NOT recommend high density settings for most machines.   It will slow display speed tremendously!

Password protection

Encrypted password protection.   You can enable password protection by checking the "Protect" box.   Click the "Set Pwd" button to set your password.   The password is initially set NULL ("").

Be aware that Flying YOU's password protection is NOT a sophisticated multiple key encryption algorithm.   It is meant simply to prevent a casual passer-by from getting too nosey while you're away.   If you REALLY need to protect your data, PLEASE don't depend on a screensaver to do it!
