About the catalog:

Data Research Associates provides a public search service for the the LC Cataloging Distribution's ``Complete Service.''   It is not the full LC catalog, but it contains many of the items from the catalog, including current materials.

Networks can be slow during the day, so be patient when connecting.

About book orders:
Stores are beginning to accept e-mail orders (Quantum Books of Cambridge, and Computer Literacy Bookshops of San Jose are two that do).
When you find a book, you can order it by e-mail and they will ship it to you.
The first time you push Order a book..., you will be given a template order form to edit.   This form will be sent to Mail when you Order...

Stores have individual policies about billing and shipping, but they generally provide accounts so you don't need to send credit card numbers directly.
