PhoneMemo:

an amazingly simple hack.

PhoneMemo provides a simple interface to NeXTMail for composing and delivering phone messages. It should be relatively bug free, but should you find and problems or have any suggestions, mail them to elitman@proxima.com.

Raison d'Þtre

I wrote this app in about an hour one afternoon when our receptionist was at lunch. It does everything I would like a phone message app to do, is small, and is relatively unobtrusive.

Source code is provided should you wish to change the app, but in order to modify the nib you will need to have MailComposerPalette installed in IB. Drop me a line if you have trouble finding this.

Enjoy.
