

Title.tiff , The Info Menu

Each of the Info menu entries brings up a panel which gives the user information about TickleServices, or which allows the user to give information to TickleServices or send information to the developer.

Info....tiff , The Info... entry brings up TickleServices' Info Panel, which provides information about the current version of TickleServices and its status as copyrighted shareware.

Manual....tiff , The Manual... entry brings up the online manual panel, which you are currently using. See Introduction/Manual for information on using the Manual panel.

Registration....tiff , The Registration... entry brings up a registration panel from which the user can enter and print out information necessary to register TickleServices. First, choose the type of license you wish to register, either Individual, Student, or Site. Then, enter in the appropriate address and other information and use the Print button to print the registration form, which will contain instructions for mailing.

Note: if you are filling out the Site license, be certain to select the correct type of license and the correct size.

Bug_Scott....tiff , The Bug Scott... entry brings up a Mail Send window (called a Compose window under NeXTSTEP3.0) with the developer's email address and the version of TickleServices already filled in. Enter in whatever you wish to communicate, and send it. If you are unable to send email to my site, you can print the information and mail it to me via the postal service. Feel free to mail bug reports and other information with your registration form, if you wish.

Preferences....tiff , The Preferences... entry brings up the Preferences panel (see the Preferences section).
