

This is one of the few remaining cities. The people of the town hide when you first enter, but when they see you are adventurers they welcome you and ask you to help. They tell you that the Temple is a source of great power. Maybe you should check it out.