

You have been teleported into the Pyramid. The entrance used by the final workers has been closed for over a thousand years. The walls are lined with statues and you wonder how you all will get out. At the end of this passage are two other passageways. One ascending and the other descending.