

This was the original site for the burial of the Pharaoh, but the plans changed at the last minute. All the workers who died working on this room were probably not happy.