

There are words etched onto the wall here and say: Osiris spoke to Cheops before his death. He told him that one day a great evil would threaten the lands of Egypt. When this day came a group of determined adventurers would appear to fight this evil. But the evil would be too powerful for the adventurers alone.