Chapter 2

Interprocess Communication

Surveys the programming interfaces used for interprocess communication, including IRIX shared memory, semaphores, and locks, and System V shared memory, semaphores, and message queues.